POPE THANKS HIS PHYSICIANS

For Skillful Manner in Which They Operated on Him.

DONE WITHOUT GIVING PAIN

Dr. Mazzoni Takes a Rather Hopeful View of the Case Owing to His Holiness' Great Vitality.

Rome, July 8, 6:55 a. m.-The pope, on waking, did not speak. He was somewhat irritable and it seemed as though the blankets and other bed clothes were too heavy, so he kicked them off, at the imminent risk of taking a fresh cold, which would be absolutely fatal. The doctors consider that, altogether, his holiness has had a rather peace-

All is tranquil at the vatican this morning. The medical bulletin which will be issued at the usual hour is awaited with great expectation. Dr. Lapponi at 6 o'clock had gone asleep. 2:15 a.m.—Pope Leo is now sleeping, but his head lies uneasy on the pillow. The alleviation brought about by yesterday's operation of removing the fluid from his pieura was followed later in the evening by a restless period, and fresh doses of chloral, dignitalis and caffeine had to be administered. Under their influence the pontif fell into a slumber, which, however, was not very peaceful, on account of the difficulty the patient has in breathing. Seeing Dr. Lapponi slways at his bedside, the pope just before falling asleep said kindly to him: "Now it is your turn tonight. You nim: "Now it is your turn tonight. You

Throughout the vatican absolute calm prevails tonight, the excitement of yesterday having to a great extent died out with the revival of hope after the announcement that yesterday's operation was ended with success.

At 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the pone was operated upon and his

the pope was operated upon, and his general condition was pronounced better. He underwent the operation with courage.

The test puncture of the pleura was made, and showed that 800 grams of liquid were taken off. A rapid examination showed that some mucus was rattling in the lung which was origi-

At 9:50 o'clock last evening Dr. Maz-zoni, assisted by Dr. Lapponi's son, who also is a doctor, finished the analy-sis of the liquid extraction from the sis of the liquid extraction from the pope's plcura. The color is orange red and it is prevalently composed of blood with coagulated fibrin without pus. What it feared is a reproduction of serum in the plcura, in which case the operation will be repeated in about two days.

Dr. Mazzoni has been besieged by relatives and friends of the pape and by journalists inquiring as to the re-sult of the operation and his prognosis of the disease. To the Associated Press correspondent he said:

"When one considers that the pope should be dead by this time, the unex-pected may happen and there is still hope. His resisting so long and maintaining perfect lucidity of mind means that notwithstanding the pneumonia the affection of the kidneys and the difficulty of breathing, there is no poisoning of the blood. Between being at the point of death and returning to what his holl death and returning to what his holi-ness is tonight there is certainly such a difference as to permit the most optim-istic views. To properly understand the change which has taken place it must be considered that yesterday the conviction was so sure that he would die during the night that, notwithstanding the contrary opinion of Dr. Lapponi, those surrounding the pope insisted on having extreme unction administered. Evil tongues even insinuate that some members of Pope Leo's immediate circle counted on the bad effects that such a function was likely to produce on a weakened organism, but the pope re-sisted splendidly. Indeed, he seems to have acquired fresh strength. I do not care to say anything positive. It is very easy to be deceived, especially in the presence of such marvelous resistance. I merely venture the impression that there is a probability that the pope will die, but I do not believe that death will occur yet.

The marvelous vitality and recupera-tive energy of the pope were never so forcibly demonstrated as by the series of events preceding, accompanying and of events preceding, accompanying and following the operation. When first informed that the operation would perhaps he had, his holiness began to inquire about it. Turning to Dr. Lapponi with his usual familiarity, he asked: "Will it be painful? Remember, I cannot stand much pain."

Instead of Dr. Lapponi, Dr. Mazzoni enswered: "I can assure your holi-ness that you will feel no pain. A little cocaine will deaden all sensa-

Pope Leo retorted at once: "Remember, you said the same thing when you extracted that eyst a few years

Dr. Mazzoni replied: "That operation went very well, but this can hardly be called an operation." The pope then concluded: "Then do whatever you think best."

When the operation took place, nobody was allowed in the room beside the doctors except Pope Leo's valet.
Plo Centra: even his nephew. Count Camillo Pecci, left the room to await with extreme anxiety in an adjoining hall the result. The doctors, desiring a strong light, had the window widely opened, but, as it faces the hed, the opened, but, as it faces the bed, the light offended the weak eyes of the pontiff, so that it was thought desirable that he should reverse his position. As soon as this was announced the pope moved, showing that spirit of action and determination which seems constantly to inspire him.

Dr. Mazzoni, however, did not give him time to leave the bed, but, taking him in his arms, literally turned the pontiff about. Pope Leo smiled and exclaimed: "Brayo, professor. I. cor gratulate you. Although I have become o light, I must still be rather heavy Both the doctors laughed and were a the same time astonished at the bright ness of the pontiff when oppressed by such a dangerous illness, and on the point of undergoing a surgical opera-constantly to inspire him.

Pope Leo remained sitting up in bet during the whole time of the operation without need of support. When Dr. Mazzoni substituted the Pravaz needle with a Potain aspirator, the pope did not even notice it going through the whole affair without emitting the slightest sound and without showing any feeling of pain. He was extreme-ly pale, almost diaphanous and somewhat tremulous. As soon as the opera-tion was closed his holiness felt must relieved. His eye, from an expression of languid melancholy, assumed its usated face. Dr. Mazzoni at opce admnstered a cordial, which the pontiff took willingly, thanking him with a grateful look for the brave struggle to preserve his life. He afterwards expressed a desire to tee the liquid which had been extracted from his thorax. U. S. Circuit Judge Brown Renders Decision in Their Favor.

New York, July 8.—Judge J. Brown, in the United States circuit court, for the district of Rhode Island, has rendered a decision whereby a diamond importing firm of Providence is granted a temporary injunction restraining the collector of that port from returning to New York certain diamonds pursuant to directions issued by the secretary of the treasury. The complainants asserted that they were subjected to long delays before gaining possessions. sion of their goods, occasioned by send-ing the stones back to New York to be passed upon by experts and alleged that competitive dealers were called in to examine their merchandise, thus ac quiring a knowledge of their transac-tions detrimental to their interests. The opinion of Judge Brown restrains the collector from removing any merchan-dise from the limits of a port of entry. It is considered of great importance by the dealers owing to the vigorous campaign recently carried on by the treasury department in the matter of diamond appraisement at the smaller ports of entry.

STAGE HELD UP. Lone Highwayman Near Colusa, Cal., Does the Business.

Colusa, Cal., July 7.—The Bartlett Springs stage was held up by a lone highwayman on the Brimm grade on Monday evening. The robbery occurred at the same place that the stage was held up a year ago. From the description of the robber and his method he is thought to be the same man. The large six-horse coach driven by John Miller was going slowly up the grade when the 11 passengers were startled by the command. "Driver, stop that team. Every hand up. Now, you passengers climb out in a hurry and line up to my right, about 20 feet away. The first man who then makes a move gets the contents of my gun." t the same place that the stage was after the contents of my gun,"

After the passengers had lined up the robber, who wore a black mask, ordered one of the male passengers to make a collection with a sack and the passengers were ordered to drop their valuables in. When this was completed by ordered all book into the pleted he ordered all back into the ceach and with the remark: "I intend to camp on the road till night and will shoot the first man who attempts to come back," ordered the driver to go ahead. The robber secured from the passengers about $142.
